1. Fire up the 65,000 BTU gas burner of the Tuya fire bowl from Eldorado Stone, crafted from glass-fiber reinforced concrete, resembling natural stone. Through Connecticut Stone, Milford, connecticutstone.com, eldoradostone.com. 2. The Sandur collection from Oasiq was inspired by the childhood game of cat's cradle. Designer Mark Gabbertas accomplished the look by combining open-weave roping with a sturdy tubular, stainless-steel frame. NYC, oasiq.com. 3. Outfit your patio with the latest in resort wear—bold stripes and bright colors—with the Cirque umbrella from Santa Barbara. Through Walters Wicker, D&D, waltersnyc.com (T), sbumbrella.com. 4. The Barbara Barry Horizon end table by McGuire has two natural teak shelves for poolside drinks or reading materials. The circular aluminum frame is covered in a woven resin, available in Driftwood or Java Bronze finishes. NYDC, mcguirefurniture.com (T). 5. Link's Whisper sofa features details reminiscent of the 1960's sculptural lines, a barrel back and a tightly upholstered seat for minimal modernism. Through Hines & Co., D&D, hinescompany.com (T), linkoutdoor.com. 6. From the Spanish design firm of Gandia-Blasco, the Cadiz daybed from RHModern offers laid-back luxury and avant-garde artistry. The repetition of horizontal aluminum slats creates a beautiful light effect. Through RH, Greenwich, rh.com, rhmodern.com. 7. The clean lines and transitional styling of Brown Jordan's Fle armchair, designed by Richard Frinier, evoke the simplicity of midcentury design. Through Lillian August, Norwalk, lillianaugust.com, brownjordan.com. 8. Indoor comfort with outdoor functionality, the Grid two-seater sofa from Design Within Reach performs on all fronts. Designer Henrik Pedersen created this collection of modular pieces that can be mixed and matched. Stamford, dwr.com.
